DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Guider House ca. 1860 is Greek Revival style 1-story 5x2-bay frame dwelling with a hip roof and undercut gallery supported on rectangular posts with capitols. The front facade is flush boarded and contains a central entrance with sidelights and transom divided into geometric panes which is echoed on the rear facade. Four french doors open onto the gallery. These contain eight lights with wooden panels below. All other windows contain 6-over-6 double hung sash. The gallery floor has been replaced. Appended to the rear are two wings with undercut galleries. The gallery connecting the west wing, which housed the original kitchen was enclosed to form storage space. The main block contains a central hall flanked by two rooms on either side. Floors are heart pine and each room, including the room in the west rear wing contains simple Greek Revival mentels with pilasters and wide frieze.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Guider House is a typical example of a Greek Revival style cottage constructed in Vicksburg, Mississippi before the Civil War. It is particularly significant because it retains its rear dependencies with undercut galleries. Features which characterize this building type are the flush boarded facade, front and rear central entrances each with geometrically divided sidelights and transom and undercut gallery supported on rectangular posts with capitals. The four french doors leading to the gallery provide summer ventilation and protection from the sun when shutters are closed and the doors opened.

This house was the home of Benjamin Guider who founded in 1866 what became "one of Vicksburg's leading jewelry establishments." (Commercial and Historic Vicksburg, Vicksburg: Vicksburg Daily Herald, 1907). Guider was a manufacturing jeweler "whose reputation has spread over the entire south" and he was "recognized as one of the most proficient men in this line of business endeavor in the country." (Ibid.) The business carried on by his two sons after Guider's death just before World War I was still being conducted in 1934 at which time it was considered to be the oldest jewelry business in the state. ("Guider Jewelry Company," Vicksburg Evening Post, April 23, 1934). Another prominent Vicksburg man, was Ben Guider's grandson. Named for his grandfather Benjamin Guider, attorney and judge, was born in the house.
